Mix all of this with stellar archeological sites and hot springs, and this trip contains all of the ingredients to create one of the world's great river journeys.

General Trip Itinerary

EXACT CAMP LOCATIONS AND DAILY RIVER MILEAGE WILL VARY WITH WATER LEVELS AND RIVER CONDITIONS.

Day 1: The First Morning

The trip meets at the Rome Launch Site/ Put-In. We'll pass out waterproof dry-bags, help you with packing your gear for the trip, and make the final preparations for our river journey (packing boats, rafting orientation from your guides, handing out river gear) before heading downstream.

The trip starts with a nice float from our Rome Valley launch until we enter the first of many gorges. Look for Golden Eagles' nests high on the canyon walls. Lunch on our first day will be riverside, before entering the first canyon. After running great rapids such as Bullseye and Upset, we'll arrive at our first camp in time to enjoy a hike or simply relax and listen to the river pass by before preparing a delicious evening meal.

Days 2-4: River Days

Each day we will follow a similar routine. In the morning you will be awakened by the sunlight creeping down the canyon walls toward your tent and the rich smell of morning coffee and tea. After enjoying a hearty breakfast, we'll pack up our personal gear, load the rafts, and ready ourselves for another amazing day on the river. We'll encounter thrilling rapids and enjoy the Owyhee's incredible canyon scenery, with opportunities for side hikes or relaxing soaks in natural hot springs. Each day we will find a nice riverside lunch spot to replenish the energy levels for more river adventure. In the early afternoon it will be time to choose one of the many unique and beautiful camps the Owyhee has to offer. Many of the camps offer great hiking opportunities for those interested. In places like Jackson Creek, Chalk Basin and Green Dragon Canyon you'll find colorful side canyons, stunning waterfalls, and scenic ridgelines with amazing views of the river below. After dinner it's time to revel in the adventures of the day, tell stories by the fire, or drift off to your personal star-gazer's paradise.

Day 5: River/Take-Out

We start our final day on the river in the usual style, with a tasty breakfast before breaking camp and loading the rafts. On our way downstream, we'll enjoy a leisurely pace as we drift toward our take-out. Upon reaching Birch Creek, we will de-rig the rafts and load the equipment onto our shuttle vehicles. Before we leave, don't forget to toast the river for yet another amazing descent of this whitewater gem! Your vehicle will be at the take out, so put on some dry clothes and enjoy the spectacular scenery on the drive home.

We will be off the river around lunch time. You're welcome to enjoy one last lunch with us at the take-out before saying "goodbyes".

Packing List

While we provide all group camping equipment and meals (including tents, sleeping pads, and camp chairs), you will need to provide clothing and personal gear for off the river and at camp. Below is a suggested packing list to use for your river expedition.

Always be prepared for changing weather! Appropriate clothing on a multi-day river trip is important for both comfort and risk management. While on the river, we could experience warm sunny days, cold rainy days, or anything in between. We need to be prepared for all possibilities. When planning for your trip, try to use the “layering system”. By bringing clothing that can be worn under or on top of others, in layers, you will have the flexibility to adjust to a variety of weather conditions. Make sure that you have warm layers made of synthetic materials (not cotton), such as polypropylene, capilene, or wool. Cotton does not keep you warm when it is wet!

For river travel, we will provide you with river clothing: wet suit, booties, paddle jacket; helmet and PFD (personal flotation device). We will also provide a dry bag (like a large waterproof backpack) to protect your belongings from the water.

- Warm sleeping bag (available for rent for $30)
